

Help DEVELOP your child's English language learning potential.

Parents play a vital role in their children's educational development. By working together with teachers and supporting their children outside the classroom, they can have a real impact on a student's success in learning.

The TOEFL® Young Students Series by ETS is designed specifically for the English language learning needs of younger students. Like all ETS programmes, the series applies our decades of experience and the latest research innovations to develop valid, reliable, and fair tests that support educational purposes.

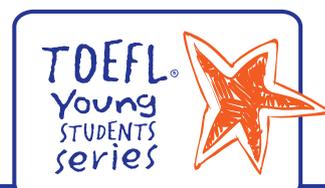

The TOEFL Young Students Series includes the TOEFL Primary® and TOEFL Junior® tests. These tests provide important feedback to parents about their children's English language learning skills. Since children need reinforcement to build confidence in their abilities, the feedback gives parents valuable information that they can then use to provide the support and reassurance students need as they work to develop their English-language skills.

How Parents Can Help

We know parents want their children to be successful and engaged in their learning. With "can do" statements and other detailed information, the TOEFL Young Students Series score reports help parents gain a clearer understanding of their children's abilities in English. This enables them to work together with teachers to provide the support and guidance needed to help children take the lead on their English-language education journeys.

Score reports provide a meaningful and detailed way to show progress

Score reports and certificates of achievement are designed to be positive and motivational for students. Detailed and comprehensive, they highlight what students have accomplished as English-language learners and the next steps to improve their English-language skills.

The TOEFL® Young Students Series:

- Is specifically tailored to younger students' cognitive, physical, and emotional development
- Provides an individual snapshot of a student's ability and provides descriptors with meaningful information, including steps students can take to improve English-language skills
- Maps to CEFR<sup>1</sup> levels for international benchmarking
- Links to Lexile<sup>®2</sup> measures so you can match reading materials to students' abilities
- Offers certificates of achievement based on a student's score level

The TOEFL Primary® tests:

- Assess the general English-language proficiency of young students ages 8+
- Provide a snapshot of each student's ability in reading and listening

The TOEFL Junior® test:

- Assesses communicative English skills in middle school and lower levels of high school students ages 11+
- Measures Listening Comprehension, Language Form and Meaning, and Reading Comprehension

By working together, parents and teachers can provide the support and guidance children need to succeed.

Parents play a central role in listening, reassuring, and supporting their children's development as they take on new types of school work and experiences. Talk to your child's teacher to find out more about the TOEFL Young Students Series to help guide your child along the way and prepare them for a world of opportunities.

<sup>1</sup>CEFR: The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages outlines an ascending series of common reference levels for describing learner proficiency. This CEFR describes both knowledge and skills in positive "can-do" statements at six levels of proficiency for different language skills from A1 level (Basic User - Breakthrough) to C2 level (Proficient User - Mastery).
